Man: I'm bored!

Woman: We can play chess if you want.

Man: Not really...I always lose. I think I'll never learn how to play it. But we can go jogging. What would you say?

Woman: Jogging? Last time you ran 500 metres and said you were tired.

Man: Yes, but this time it's going to be different. I promise...Still, it's much better than watching TV, isn't it? Come on! Put your trainers on.

Woman: Oh, all right.

Tekst 3.

Man: Good morning, doctor.

Woman: Good morning. What's the matter?

Man: I think I'm ill. I feel tired and sleepy all the time. I hope it's only a cold.

Woman: Have you taken any medicines yet?

Man: Yes, I have, but they don't work! Will I have to go to hospital?

Woman: No, of course not! Just stay in bed and rest for a while. Forget all the pills and tablets. You should be fine soon.

Woman: Paul, come here and lay the table, please.

Man: Hmm...what is it, mum? It smells really nice.

Woman: It's a special Italian dish called lasagne. I tried it in a restaurant last Sunday.

Man: Where did you find the recipe?

Woman: I got it from the man who sells vegetables on the market. He's really nice. He knows a lot of recipes for Italian dishes.

Tekst 5.

Man: Hi Jane, it's Peter. I see it's your answering machine...Well, I know that you don't want to talk to me because you're very angry with me. I know I let you down. I really wanted to go to the cinema with you but I completely forgot about it! Please, don't be mad anymore. It's your birthday soon and I hope you'll invite me to your party.

Zadanie 2.

Man: Hi, Monica.

Woman: Hi, Jack. Are you going to the club?

Man: Yes, I joined the photography group.

Woman: I'm interested in photography too but I came too late for the first meeting and they didn't accept me.

Man: Do you belong to any group then?

Woman: Yes. I took up art. You can try drawing and painting there.

Man: Has Mike joined the club too?

Woman: Yes, I think he has. I saw him in the dance hall the other day.

Man: Really? He's fond of chess. Why doesn't he belong to the chess group?

Woman: His girlfriend asked him to go to dance lessons with her.

Man: I see. Do you know anyone who has joined the cookery group?

Woman: Yes, you won't believe it but Danny has taken up cooking as a hobby and he really enjoys it.

Man: I can't wait to go to his birthday party. I'm sure he will prepare the food.
