

Medonet reaches 62% of users interested in health on the Polish Internet

In January 2020, Medonet – a website on health being a part of the portfolio of Ringier Axel Springer Polska – decided to move to Ring Publishing. When the pandemic broke out in Poland at the beginning of March 2020, the website could function effectively due to the synergy between the expert preparation of Medonet's editors and Ring Publishing tools. At that time, Medonet became the most important centre of knowledge about COVID-19 for Poles, recording huge increases during all waves and leaving all competitive websites behind. In March 2020, Medonet was the world's fifth largest health website (except government websites).

○ What elements contributed to the increase?

1. Quick response to the existing situation

Quick creation of a Covid widget (available also on Onet) for Medonet's editors. The widget contained daily updates on the number of infections, recoveries and deaths (later also vaccinations).

2. Preparation of dedicated native sections

Native sections on coronavirus, vaccinations and with Q&A on Covid-19 were prepared. This was possible thanks to the use of Ring Websites Manager.

3.

3. Preparation of detailed publications

- map with statistical data on coronavirus, which was the most visited web page in the portfolio of Ringier Axel Springer Polska for many months, generating millions of PVs and record TTS
- statistical data for provinces and an article with collected Q&A with a detailed explanation of 200 issues important for readers

4. Stable operation in spite of huge traffic

Thanks to the use of Ring Accelerator and real-time analysis tools, the website could handle even huge and rapid traffic spikes on its sub-pages.
